Rule #6 (and review)

1. Hey would you please pass the mashed potatoes?
2. Oh that is quite a surprise.
3. I have to run to the library after school so I may be late for dinner.
4. Good now we can move on to more important tasks.
5. Well I find it difficult to admit that I'm wrong and you're right.
6. Jeepers that was close.
7. It was a cold windy night.
8. Indeed this is not the first time the desk has collapsed.
9. The Ferris Wheel which debuted at the Chicago World's Fair in 1893 was an engineering landmark.
10. Yes I do intend to learn every comma rule.
11. Justin Bieber a young modern singer won an award for his latest single.
12. Umm I suppose your argument has some merit.
13. No he should not be team captain because of his academic ineligibility.
14. I looked for my car keys on the kitchen counter in my bedroom and behind the dresser.
15. Well I suppose I could come to the party.
16. The short undersized boy was the strongest player on the football team.
17. Wow you really did well on that exam.
18. The Science and Industry Museum built in the late 1800s is still an important tourist attraction.
19. Hmm I cannot remember the answer to that question.
20. I expect the Chicago Bears to have a good season yet I fear that they will not win the division and make the playoffs.